

Faculty Early Career Research Award

For APCG 2022, we are introducing a new award category: Early Career Research Award. This award is open to all early career faculty (less than 5 years since completing their PhD) who are APCG members and presenting at the APCG conference. Evaluation will be made by the Early Career Research Award committee based on the paper abstract and the presentation. We will award one award of $500.

To enter the Early Career Research Award competition, please submit the regular short abstract as part of the registration process for APCG Bellingham, WA, by Friday, September 16, 2022, as outlined on the Call for Papers/Abstracts.

In addition, please email your intent to participate in the Award directly to Kris Bezdecny, APCG Vice President (kbezdec@calstatela.edu), by Friday, September 16, 2022 with the subject line Early Career Research Award.

Note that judges reserve the right to make no award in a given year.
