

Faculty Non-Tenured Research Award

For APCG 2022, we are introducing a new award category: the Non Tenured Research Award. This award is open to all non-tenured, non-student faculty who are APCG members and presenting at the APCG conference. The Non Tenured Research Award is designed to recognize geography faculty who are doing research while working at a community college, teaching as an adjunct or part-time position or even those outside the traditional bounds of academia. Evaluation will be made by the Non-tenured Research Award committee based on the paper abstract and the presentation. We will award one award of $500.

To enter the Non Tenured Research Award competition, please submit the regular short abstract as part of the registration process for APCG Bellingham, WA, by Friday, September 16, 2022, as outlined on the Call for Papers/Abstracts.

In addition, please email your intent to participate in the Award directly to Kris Bezdecny, APCG Vice President (kbezdec@calstatela.edu), by Friday, September 16, 2022 with the subject line Non-tenured Research Award.

Note that judges may withhold the award in a given year.
